

Financial support for conference participation

The Doctoral Program in Education and Cultural Sciences of the Doctoral School of Human Sciences provides doctoral students of the program with the opportunity to apply for a conference support up to HUF 100,000 once a year. The budget plan submitted with the application must include the self fund, which can also be supplemented through work in a funded research group based on the decision of the research leader. The application is evaluated by the management of the doctoral program based on the quality of the submitted abstract and the academic performance of the doctoral student, the criteria of which are as follows:

- Presentation of results that are worth publishing at national or international conferences
- In case of a high-level international conference, at least one published Q1-Q2 publication and proof of at least 5 previously held conference presentations in English
- At least 3 published publications and 3 conference presentations in case of a Hungarian conference
- If the grant is awarded, it is mandatory to indicate the DSHS Doctoral Program in Education and Cultural Sciences of the University of Debrecen on the PPT

If the presentation contains results obtained in the context of supported research, the abstract may only be submitted with the approval of the research leader.

The request can be submitted by filling out the following form:

<https://forms.gle/cteTQrY4LSQtowz6>

After the application has been assessed, we will send you information by email.

Important: The doctoral program only provides the opportunity to support the participation fee of the conference. Due to the variety of individual needs, it is not possible to apply for travel and accommodation expenses for the doctoral program.